

Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 15 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Mostly dry with some sunshine Friday, but Argyll cloudier.

This Evening and Tonight:

Some late sunshine for many then long clear spells overnight. However more cloud will affect the far west of Argyll and this will edge further into the Argyll mainland with the odd spot of drizzle by morning,. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:

Argyll rather cloudy, with a few spots of drizzle at first. Elsewhere, bright with some warm sunny spells, although a little more cloud than recent days. Light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Mostly dry with some warm sunshine over the weekend, but some cloudier spells especially over Argyll with patchy drizzle possible. Staying dry bright and warm on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.